Q: Selecting a specific character from a string I have been getting a lot of different results trying to select the character from a string. For example, I want to select the 'e' from "Test", but I keep getting [3] I can type it exactly, but how do I directly select the e? I have tried it with this code -> character "e"; -> printValue(e); But nothing happens, it just doesn't print anything. How do I solve this? A: Characters aren't "objects", so there's no "e" object. You can use the Value object which represents the character whose value you want. -> Value "e"; This code works.
